Unit 1

INTRODUCTION TO FOOD

Food is considered as a prime necessity for living beings especially for humans. It supplies energy for activities, maintain and repair tissues and gives protection from diseases. Food is a substance, which after ingestion, digestion and absorption is capable of being utilized by the body for its various functions.

In this lesson, the students will be able to:

GL3NNB

- know the evolution of food
- define the term Food
- explain the functions of food and their food groups
- learn about the food pyramid and Eatwell plate
- understand balanced diet
- know the objectives of cooking
- describe the methods of cooking

Evolution of Food

UNIT-01_001-022.indd 1 13-02-2020 19:15:51