12.10 Homeopathy

12.10.1 Introduction

Homeopathy is a system of natural medicine introduced and developed by a German physician, Samuel Hahnemann, at the end of the 18th century. Recognizing that the whole person-mind, body, spirit-is affected when there is illness, homeopathy seeks to treat that whole person. The focus is not the diseased part or the sickness, rather the totality of the individual. Homeopathic medicines, or 'remedies', stimulate the body's self-regulating mechanisms to initiate the healing process.

12.10.2 Definition

The theory or system of curing disease with very minute doses of medicine which in a healthy person and in large doses would produce a condition like that of the disease treated.

Homoios - like (or) similar.

pathos - feeling, suffering.

Law of similars which is the natural law of healing, diseases are heated by medicines, which are capable of producing in healthy persons, symptoms similar to those of the disease which it can heat in a sick person. - Webster's Dictionary

12.10.3 Origin of Homeopathy

The credit of deriving an entire system of therapeutics from this principle goes to the German Physician Christian Friedrich Samuel Hanemann in 1796 is based on his doctrine of like cures like, a claim that a substance that causes the symptom of a disease in
