An office manual is prepared to help the employees to know all relevant information regarding the organization, its set up i.e. structure and how he fits into it.

7.3.2. Definition of Office Manual:

According to George R. Terry, An office manual is a "written record of information and instructions which concern and can be used to guide the employee's efforts in an enterprise".

Also, an office manual has been defined as "a document disclosing the information about an organization, its set up, conditions of employment, and the established systems, routines, procedures, methods, standards, rules and regulations of an office operation."

7.3.3. Need for Office Manuals:

A large size organization has a number of branches or departments or sections or divisions. Thousands of employees are employed in large size organization. Hence it is very difficult to control the employees by the management. If instructions or guidelines are given in writing to the employees, the management can control the employees very easily and avoid misunderstanding by employees. Office manuals help the management and the employees in various ways.

1. Employees understand their position, duties and responsibilities in an organization.
2. Employees understand their role in the achievement of office objectives.
3. There is a possibility of maintaining good relations among the employees by themselves.
4. Both existing and new employees freed the management in getting the same information, explanations and instructions repeatedly.
5. The concerned employees are held responsible if the duties are not performed by them in a specified manner.
6. Delegation of authority can be enhanced throughout the organization set up without much difficulty.
7. Each employee can understand the extent of authority delegated to them.
8. New employees are trained with the help of office manual by knowing policies, practices, systems, routines and procedures.
9. Office manual is imparting refresher training to existing employees.

7.3.4. Types of Office Manuals:

1. Policy Manual: Every organization has its own policy which is served as basic guide to action. The entire activities of an organization are fully guided by policy manual. A policy manual contains decision, resolutions and directions of the board of directors stating the policies of the company.

2. Organizational Manual: The organizational manual describes the organization structure. The duties and
