receive and collect the information for timely business decisions. Information is generally collected both from internal sources such as letters, memos, circulars, notices etc., issued by different departments, sections and external sources like government departments, financial Institutions, banks, suppliers, customers, universities, general public etc.

(b) Recording of information: The collected Information has to be recorded for future reference in a suitable form. This recorded information is needed for preparing future plans, policies and taking decisions.

(c) Arranging (or) Processing of Information: All the information received cannot be used as it is. Office has to convert the collected information in the form of notes, reports, diagrams, graphs etc., depending upon the nature of information for easy access and understanding.

(d) Storing Data: The recorded information should be protected for future reference. The degree of necessity of data will determine the duration for protecting the same. Based on the importance of data, office will store them in a separate file.

(e) Communication of Recorded Data: Office has to supply the right information at the right time to different departments and also to outside bodies who are related in some way or the other for prompt and sound business decisions.

II. Administrative Management Functions: For the smooth functioning of the office there are certain administrative functions needed to be performed. These functions are outlined below:

1. Management Functions: Office work has to be properly planned, organized and executed according to the plan. For efficient functioning of an office the manager has to perform the following function such as.
