1. Routine Reports:

Routine reports are prepared periodically by filling the printed forms, to convey information about the progress or status of work. They are submitted at regular intervals or soon after the completion of the task. Following are routine reports.

a) Progress Report: This report gives information about the progress of a project or a task which is in the process of being completed, such as construction of a building or manufacture of products.

b) Inspection Report: It is submitted as soon as inspection is carried out. It is necessary for finding out any irregularities or changes from standard practice, in day-to-day work. Example internal audit report submitted by an internal auditor.

c) Performance Appraisal: It is meant for measuring and recording the performance of an employee. Every supervisor has to fill an assessment report for each subordinates annually to evaluate the performance of individual employees. It also gives feedback to the employees on their performance.

d) Periodical Report: This is prepared by departmental heads at regular intervals on the working of a section or a department to measure the efficient functioning of each department.

2. Special Reports:

Special reports are prepared when a special situation or problem arises. An individual or a committee of persons, who have knowledge and understanding in the field, is appointed to investigate and study a specific problem, collect relevant information, and make suggestions to help the management for decision making. Following are some of the special reports prepared in the organisation.
