a) First information Report (F.I.R.):This report is prepared when sudden accidents occurs, like fire accident, building collapse, robbery etc. It is prepared by the person in charge on the spot, and submitted to higher authorities for their deliberation. For example report prepared by the branch manager about fire accident occurs in branch office to Regional Office or Head Office for immediate action. The report has to give all the information which is available immediately after the incident occurs such as nature of loss, extent of destruction, time of accident etc.,

b) Investigation Report: It is prepared after making a thorough inquiry on some specific situations. An investigation is made when there is a problem and the management needs to find out the causes of the problem, and also the suggestions for solving it. Example, reports on falling sales, declining deposits in a bank, customer complaints, losses in a branch, etc.,

c) Feasibility or Survey Report: This report is prepared when an organisation intends to launch a new product in the market, introduce a new service, or make any major changes that may affect the company's customers.

d) Project Report: This is written after the initial survey has been completed on the research project. It describes the proposal as project to be completed in future by showing the cash flow and expected results. It is used for planning and also for convincing others, especially sanctioning and funding authorities like government departments and banks.

3. Formal Reports:

A formal report is prepared in the prescribed or standard form and is presented according to the established procedure and through the proper channel. Reports submitted by officials or committees of organised bodies (e.g., Companies, Co-operative Societies, Local Bodies, etc.) are usually formal reports. It may be Statutory Report or Non-statutory Report.

(a) Statutory Report: Statutory report is one which is prepared by secretary or director or auditor under the provisions of specific law. E.g., Auditors Report, Directors Report, Inspection committee Report etc.,

(b) Non-Statutory Report: Non- statutory reports are those which are not required under the provisions of any law, but have to be prepared to help top managers for the efficient control and organisations of the business.

4. Informal Reports:

Informal reports, on the other hand, do not follow any prescribed form or procedure. It usually takes the form of a person-to person communication and may even be set up in the letter form.
