CHAPTER

10

PATTERNS

U8SD1B

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- To gain knowledge about basic patterns and different types of pattern making methods.
- To acquire skills in pattern making.

10.1 INTRODUCTION

Patterns are basic structure of dresses made on paper to one's measurement or for standard body measurements. Patterns lay the foundation for dress making. A correct pattern will result in good fit and comfort of the garment. Basic patterns include bodice front, back, shirt front back and sleeve patterns. These patterns can be modified to create different varieties of dresses. Example: the basic sleeve pattern can be modified as puff sleeve. Basic patterns can be prepared either by drafting or by draping fabric on a model.

DO YOU KNOW?

How were patterns made before the invention of paper patterns?

Sized patterns didn't even exist before 1863. Women used to disassemble old clothing and use them as guides to create new clothing, and only few patterns came in one size.

10.2 TYPES OF PATTERNS ON PAPER

There are different types of paper patterns which are

- Standardised paper pattern
- Individual paper pattern
- Block paper pattern
- Graded paper pattern
- Commercial paper pattern

Standardised Paper Pattern

The standardised paper pattern is prepared using standard body measurements.

TDD_Final_Chapter10.indd 92 21-02-2019 11.53.22 AM