5. Folding fabric in lengthwise and crosswise direction is called

(a) Combination fold (b) Off centre crosswise fold

(c) Lengthwise layout (d) Open layout

6. Method used for preventing the wastage of fabric is known as

(a) Draping (b) Grading (c) Layout (d) Drafting

PART – II

II. ANSWER IN THREE (OR) FOUR POINTS :

1. What is grain?
2. What is fabric shrinkage?
3. Describe Tailor's chalk.
4. What are the details to be marked in the fabric before stitching?
5. List the advantages of open layout?

PART – III

III. ANSWER IN A PARAGRAPH :

1. Explain the method of shrinkage for cotton.
2. What are the types of layout? Explain.

PART – IV

IV. ANSWER IN ONE PAGE :

1. Explain the different methods of marking a silk fabric.
2. What are the points to be remembered during pattern layout?

Answers for Objective Questions :

1. (a) 2. (c) 3. (d) 4. (b) 5. (a) 6. (c)

TDD_Final_Chapter11.indd 110 21-02-2019 12.26.33 PM