What is the role of management process in your daily life?

The management process is a tool used to achieve your goals. Through its use you are better able to attain your desired quality of life. Through the management process you can identify the demands being placed upon the resources (skill, time and money). This knowledge is then used for effective allocation and use of resources and to lead a more satisfying and successful life.

keeping the resources mobile and knowledge of what is to be done are all important in this step.

5. Evaluating

This is a checking up process, which may help one move forward. The efficiency of the process and the quality of the end product are to be checked. When there is clear cut objectives it becomes easier to evaluate the entire process. The success or failure of the plan must be evaluated on the basis of the set goals. In case of failure the demerits of the plan may be noted and rectified while making further plans. Evaluation can be general or more detailed.

Thus management in the home is a dynamic force in day to day living and is the administrative side of family living. The steps in the management process are interdependent and interrelated for efficient, effective and dynamic use of resources which leads to the proper management of the house, whereby goals are achieved to attain maximum satisfaction.

7.2 VALUES, GOALS AND STANDARDS

7.2.1 Values

Values, Goals and Standards are important factors in the management process. Values are the key to all motivating factors in human behavior. Value, as a concept is vague and subjective although it is very important to an individual. Values grow out of human desire and interest. Values differ in cultures. The family has the major responsibility for fostering values among the members. The term "value" signifies the meaning or definition of worth that is attached to any object, condition, principle or idea. Values provide a basis for judgement, discrimination and analysis and it is these qualities that make intelligent choices possible between alternatives. Thus, values are the fundamental forces that force or motivate human activities and endeavors.

According to Gross and Crandall (1980) a value is always important to the person who holds it. It is desirable and satisfying. It has the ability to develop in self-creative way and it tends to endure. It is a concept of the desirable, explicit or implicit which governs our choice of methods, modes or goals.

The following are the motivating values of human behavior-comfort, health, ambition, love, desire for knowledge, technological satisfaction, play, art, religion.

7.2.1.1 Classification of values

- Intrinsic or Instrumental: An intrinsic value is one that is important and desirable simply for its own sake. It

Chapter7_156-184.indd 160 31-01-2019 15:24:36