Try Square

Uses

It is used to check whether the object is plane, perpendicular or at right angle. Two straight blades set at right angle to each other constitute the try square. The steel blade is riveted to the stock. The stock is made up of cast iron. The stock should be set against the edge of the job.

EMA_English_Practical.indd 185 11/9/2020 3:55:56 PM