Examples of Vouchers

The following are some of the examples of vouchers.

Cash Receipts: Vouchers regarding cash receipts include - carbon copies of receipts, contracts, minutes, correspondences, counterfoils, etc.

Cash Payments: Vouchers in connection with cash payments include - invoices, bills, demand notes, wage sheets, salary register, counterfoils, agreements etc.

Purchases: Invoices, Goods inward book, Copies of orders placed, Correspondence, etc. can be cited as examples of vouchers for purchases.

Sales: Copies of invoice, Orders received, Goods Outward Book, Correspondence, etc., are some of the examples of vouchers related to sales.

6.3 Missing Vouchers

While vouching vouchers or supporting documentary evidences are not available for the entries made in the books of accounts, such non-availability of vouchers is called as missing vouchers. It may be deliberate (purposeful or indicative of a big fraud) or accidental (innocent misplacement).

In this case, the auditor should obtain proper explanation and enquire reasons for missing vouchers. If he is not satisfied with the explanation, he should mention the fact in his report. Further, he should obtain a certificate from the competent official stating all the missing vouchers.

6.4 Vouching of Cash Transactions

All transactions whether it is cash receipts or payments should be accounted in the cash book. It is an important financial book of a business concern. While vouching, the auditor should verify and satisfy himself that vouchers in the form of receipts, bills, invoices, cash memos etc., correspond with the entries in the cash book. Further, he must go behind the books and establish accuracy and correctness of the entries after thoroughly examining all the original documentary evidences. Therefore, the auditor should ensure that all receipts have been recorded in cash book and no fictitious payments appear on the payment side of cash book.

6.4.1 Auditors Duty in Vouching Cash Transactions

The procedures in regard to vouching the transactions of various items which appear in the debit side of the cash book are discussed below:

1. Auditor should see that all the vouchers are properly filed, serially numbered and arranged date wise. He should also obtain duplicates of lost or missing vouchers.
2. He should pay attention to the dates, which must correspond with the cash book, name of the party to whom the voucher is issued, the name of the party issuing the voucher and the amount, etc.
3. The transactions must be in conformity with the nature of the client's business.
