Section I

READING

Listen to the teacher read this section.

The young man flung the hammer and the chisel to the ground and cried, "I'm leaving Father. I'm leaving you and this work. Look what it's brought us!"

He spread out his arms and glanced indifferently at the small, congested work room. The white washed walls were stained by many monsoons. The window, bare of curtains, opened into a tiny backyard.

"After all these years of work, this is all we have – nothing, nothing. This kind of work just doesn't pay!"

The old man stared at his son in surprise. Although his voice trembled, it didn't lose its usual gentleness. "It's not only the money that matters, son. It's the service, our service to God."

"Father," the young man grunted impatiently, "Times have changed. The stone carver's work has changed too. You can't live on sculptures for temples only. You have to mass produce, mass produce like all the others in Agra. Come on, Father! Wake up."
