Slowly from there the food service industry has scaled up to great heights today with sophistication. The first Indian hotel founded was TajMahal Palace, a hotel in Mumbai (formerly called Bombay) overlooking the Arabian Sea.

1.2 Scope of Food Service Management

Food service management has a wide scope in the present day and in the future as well. Globalization, modern fast paced lifestyle and changing eating habits are some of the reasons for the growth of food service operations. People eating outside are increasing day by day and customers look for food which is healthy and safe.

Food service management is needed in a food service operation whether it is small, medium or large. Keeping these factors in mind, the scope and prospects for food service management are listed below:

- Become an entrepreneur in running a food service operation successfully.
- Manage to run a food service operation
- Establish linkages with corporates and industries to provide food "on contract basis".
- Manage food services in hospitals like dietaries and canteens.
- Set up food preservation and bakery units.
- Establish a snack bar/kiosk with nutritious foods like salads, fresh juices and herbal drinks.
- Become a teacher in schools and in colleges.
- Become an event manager to meet the needs of food and beverages for various events.
- Develop food products and become a food designer.
- Work in airline, railway and ship catering services.
- Design and develop new cuisines
- Create employment opportunities for many and
- Provide good and healthy food to the community.

1.3 Food Service Operations

Food service operations are broadly categorized as commercial and non-commercial.

1.3.1 Commercial

Commercial food service operations are operated as business or for a profit motive Eg: hotels. The types of food service operations are many to meet the demands of the customer and the following are some of the common commercial food service operations.

▲ Plate 1.1 Commercial Food Service Operation

a. Cafeteria: Cafeteria system consists of straight-line counters containing a variety of hot and cold dishes. The customers pick up a tray and move along and select the dishes. The cashier at the end of the counter makes the bill for items selected

FSM_Theory_ch1.indd 2 20-02-2019 5.51.20 PM