sick, and for the great deeds for humanity and to raise the status of nursing profession.

Florence Nightingale was born in a wealthy English family on 12th May 1820. She had a great desire to become a nurse. She was dissatisfied with the daily routine lifestyle of the upper class woman. She had classical education which provided her with an understanding of circumstances of the world in which she lived.

She became aware of the inadequate care being provided in hospitals. She accompanied her mother to visit the ill at hospitals. She visited hospitals in England and Europe.

She recognized that nurses required

- Knowledge
- Training and
- Discipline

Nightingale was admitted to the training programme at the Nursing school at Kaiserwerth in 1850. After her training, in 1853 she was appointed as superintendent of the Institution for The Care of the Sick Gentlewomen in London.

She had an opportunity to give her best service to the wounded soldiers in the Crimean War in 1854. She attended thousands of wounded and dying soldiers. For which she was rightly known as "The lady with the lamp"

Miss Nightingale introduced enormous improvements in military hospitals. She also founded the first training school for nurses – St. Thomas Hospital, London, 1860. She shared her ideas about nursing and nursing education.

Miss Nightingale was the first to mention Holism (Treating the whole patient) in Nursing.

Nightingale was the founder of modern nursing education. She planned a complete public health programme. Despite her ill health she worked for the development of nursing services without taking sufficient rest.
