House keeping services in a hospital are entrusted with maintaining a hygienic and clean hospital environment conducive to patient care.

House keeping services has a direct effect on the health, comfort and morale of the patient, staff and visitors, Hence it is also an important public relations variable.

Good housekeeping is one of the basic essentials of nursing.

A well managed housekeeping department can reduce the cost of hospital operation considerably.

Hospital housekeeping is an activity upon which all health – providing services (Dietary, Laundry, Laboratory) of the hospital depend on.
