How do you receive your guests during celebrations and events? Have you ever wondered when this tradition started? Read the following passage on Indian traditional hospitality and narrate how you would welcome a guest home.

Centuries ago, Indians treated scholars and kings with great respect. Sangam Literature and Thirukkural have several verses praising hospitality. Young children are taught to treat guests as Gods. Thirukkural has more than ten couplets on hospitality – Virunthombal – cherishing guests. Thiruvalluvar speaks about the greatness of hospitality.

"With smiling face, he entertains each virtuous guest,

Fortune with gladsome mind shall in his dwelling rest"

Kural -84 (Translation by G U Pope et. al.)

(Goddess with joyous smile shall dwell in the house of that man who with cheerful countenance entertains his guests as Gods.)

Sangam literature in Tamil titled 'Purananuru' says that the drums roar in heaven during Indira Vizha when all the
