Example

i. He bought a pen from the nearby shop.
ii. Raj loves to pen poems for the school magazine.

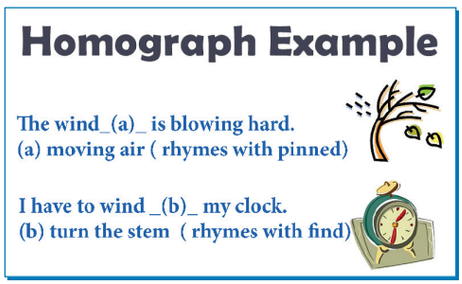

d. Homographs.

Homographs are words which have similar spelling, but different pronunciation and meaning.

Read the following examples.

i) object (noun): article, physical object
ii) object (verb): to express an objection or protest

- A strange object was washed ashore in the Marina beach by the Tsunami waves.
- The soldiers do not object to working in harsh conditions.

e. Antigrams

Antigrams are a pair of anagrams with opposite meanings. (An anagram is a word or phrase spelled by rearranging the letters of another word or phrase).

Read the following example.

united (adj): joined into a single entity untied (adj): not tied, unfastened

- Hurricane Katrina devastated the United States of America.
- He untied the bundle of books.

Task: Read the passage and fill the blanks with correct homophones.

The _____ (weather/whether) was horrible outside. The wind was blowing stronger and faster. The wind _____ (howled/hauled) with a terrible noise. Vicky _____ (new/knew) that he had to find his dog Sam. He could _____ (barley/barely) walk in the wind but he did not give up. Suddenly, he _____ (heard/herd) the dog_____ (wine / whine). He whirled around and found it inside a drain. He quickly snatched him and went into the house.

Contranyms An auto-antonym or autantonym, also called a contronym or contranym, is a word with multiple meanings (senses) of which one is the reverse of another.

Eg. Dust: When you dust are you applying dust or removing it? It depends on whether you're dusting the crops or furniture.

Seed: If you seed the lawn you add seeds, but if you seed a tomato you remove them.

Task: Underline and understand the appropriate homographs in the sentences below.

1. The bandage was wound around the wound.
2. Johnny was content with the content.
3. The students project their project using a smart board.

Unit-3-051-069_Confronting Critical Situation-March-11-2018.indd 55 21-01-2019 10:32:01