The sparrow took a strong creeper, and tied the elephant on one end.

It went to the river, saw the crocodile blocking its way.

Sparrow took the other end of the creeper and tied the crocodile.

Sparrow went to the centre of the creeper.

The elephant and the crocodile pulled each other at the same time.

This went on all day. At last, both the animals were exhausted.

Gullu ran into the forest and the crocodile dived into the river. Soon the eggs hatched. Madam Sparrow lived happily with her three little babies.
