Warm up

At the heart of life lie the relationships you have with other people: with family, classmates and friends close-by and far away. All relationships are based on some commonly accepted values like respect, honesty, consideration and commitment. Think about all the important relationships in your life and complete the table given below.

Relationship	What I value the most about this relationship	What are the things that may/do cause unpleasantness in this relationship?	What could I do to improve this relationship?
Grandparents
Parents
Siblings
Friends
Teachers
